Speaker Rob L. McKinney

Rob L. McKinney, President and CEO of SEAPORT AIRLINES, is a graduate of Purdue University with an MBA from Ellis College. Mr. McKinney has both training and experience in piloting commercial aircraft and managing flight operations. Mr. McKinney began his career as a pilot and now has over 7,000 hours accumulated flight time. He has flown everything from movie stars from Hollywood to kitty litter in the Caribbean. McKinney has even been on stage as a stand-up comic with his biggest venue being the Stardust in Las Vegas.

As Vice President and Director of Operations for Pacific Wings, LLC, Mr. McKinney increased passenger loads on the Hawaiian-based scheduled commuter airline, triple their original numbers. Later hired by Mokuele Flight Service, Inc. in Kona, HI, to build a small local air tour company into a scheduled commuter airline, he succeeded in establishing scheduled status and acquired a code share agreement with Mesa Airlines to operate go!Express within the islands. In September, 2007, Mr. McKinney joined the original investors and founders of SeaPort Airlines as the company's very first employee and was tasked with establishing scheduled commuter airline service from Portland, Oregon to Seattle, Washington as the Chief Operating Officer.

Today, Mr. McKinney is a partial owner and President for SeaPort's four bases of operation—Portland, Oregon, Memphis, Tennessee, San Diego, CA and Juneau, Alaska. SeaPort now has 285 employees in 9 states.
